

Solid Mobile Central™

Why choose Solid Mobile Central™ to handle your wireless mobile sales force?

Because it's automation saves you time and energy.

In this electronic world we live in, much of today's business information exchange takes place globally and invisibly. The seamless and timely flow of information is essential to running a competitive business and advantageous to both internal and external customers.

Solid Mobile Central™ is a communications manager software package that facilitates the movement of transactions between Solid Sales Pro™ and Solid Business Central™ or your accounting system. All transactions created by Solid Sales Pro are automatically uploaded to Solid Business Central or your office accounting system. Updated customer and pricing information is simultaneously downloaded back to the handheld. Solid Sales Pro multiple concurrent sessions via all types of communications media.

Mobile Central manages the flow of information between your office computer and any mobile computer in any location including the warehouse, routes or retail store. While Solid Sales Pro is running on your mobile handheld computers, Solid Mobile Central performs as a communication link between these systems.
